

ADVENTISTS IN QUADRENNIAL SESSION

CONFERENCES IN EUROPE HAVE EMERGED FROM THE WAR AND THE TERRIBLE CONDITIONS ARE STILL PREVAILING IN THOSE COUNTRIES WITH INCREASED STRENGTH SAYS ELDER DANIELLS

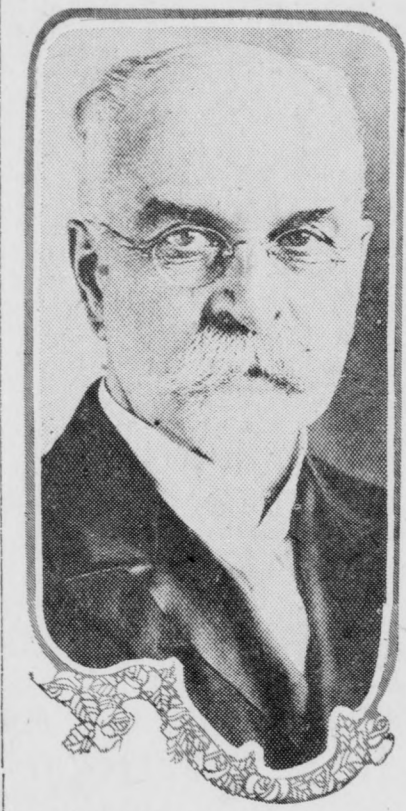

SPLENDID INTEREST SHOWN IN CONVENTION

That Europe is on the verge of a terrible internal convulsion, that many of her factories are in ruins, her machinery unusable, her raw materials scarce, and that hundreds of thousands who had plenty when the war began are beggars today, compelled to stand in the bread line, were statements of Elder Arthur G. Daniells, president of the General Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, in his discourse Sunday night to a congregation which packed the new Adventist church at California and Isabe! streets to the doors.

Despite the chaos and havoc caused by the war, from which the continent has not yet recovered, the Seventh-day Adventist conferences in Europe have emerged from the conflict "without even the smell of powder," said Mr. Daniells. "Every conference we had in Europe when the war began, is still there. Our publishing houses, our sanitariums and our schools are still there, and doing active work, only their volume of work has greatly increased. Our college in London has twice as many students as when the war began. Concerning our church work in Russia I can not speak, for we are still without communication with it."

Elder Daniells said Austria is perhaps in the worst condition of any European country. "The Austrian crown is worth less than one cent. Bread tickets are still issued, and only two small slices a day are allowed each individual."

"When I was in Europe, about three months ago, the president of the Austrian republic met with the supreme war council in Paris, and said to them, 'Gentlemen, we want you to know our situation. Austria is bleeding to death from every vein. We have food for 30 days for Vienna, with its million and a half give our palaces as security, also our beautiful museums. We will give the City of Vienna as security if you will give us bread.' That is a terrible situation. Never in the memory

SIPLES IN GLENDALE

MOTOR FROM THEIR MILE-HIGH RANCH NEAR BEAUMONT WITH LOAD OF APPLES

E. Siple and wife, who drove over from their ranch at Oak Glen, near Beaumont, last Friday, with a load of apples, are returning today. The Siple ranch is on the south side of "Old Greyback," 10,000 feet high, and they are just half that distance above sea level, where the air is dry and pure and fogs never come. They have 65 acres of apples—Winesap, White Pearmain, Rome Beauty and Delicious; ten acres of cherries—Black Tartarian, Giant Lambert and Royal Anne; ten acres of pears and a few peach and plum trees. The apple and pear yield was only moderate the past year, Mr. Siple said, owing to the prevalence of tree pests, but the cherries were fine. There were five tons of Tartarians, the same of Royal Annes and over two tons of Lamberts. The trees of the last named variety are just coming into full bearing and Mr. Siple expects great things of them this year.

Water for irrigation and other purposes is abundant, coming from never-failing springs and from snows in the mountains, where the average fall is between thirty and forty inches. Last year it was thirty inches up to this time, and forty-eight for the season. This year the fall has been only seven inches to date. There is usually some snow on the ranch itself, but there has been none so far. Mr. Siple thinks the section in which they are located would be ideal for a sanitarium. The roads between there and Glendale are fine, he says, and the trip this way can easily be made in four hours, but an hour more is required for the return.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR WASHINGTON HUNT

Funeral services for Washington Hunt, who passed away at his home, 211 North Louise Street, on February 8th, will be held from the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company Thursday at 2 p. m. The son, Norman Hunt, arrived this morning from San Francisco and will remain with his mother indefinitely.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

A LINCOLN MEMORIAL, MISS JACKSON READING "A PERFECT TRIBUTE"

An unusually interesting Lord's Day was observed with two large audiences at the Central Christian Church. A feature of the night meeting commemorating the life of Abraham Lincoln was the reading of Mary Shipman Andrews' "The Perfect Tribute." Miss Bertha Jackson made a deep impression with her presentation of the story which portrayed the true greatness and character of the great Emancipator. It is the story of Lincoln's own impression of his Gettysburg address, culminating in a tribute to it by a dying Confederate soldier and brings out a number of the wonderful characteristics of Mr. Lincoln.

Rev. C. A. Cole introduced the special feature by an address on the spirit of Lincoln. His morning sermon was "The Significance of the Conversion of Cornelius, the Roman Centurion." The church will have its monthly evening of song and music next Sunday night.

FILES $40,000 CLAIM AGAINST CITY

Attorney Marcus A. Woodward this morning filed claim against the City of Glendale for $40,000, $30,000 of which is in favor of Cecil Baisley for injuries received when shot by Officer Wilson of the City of Glendale on the night of January 18, and $10,000 of which is in favor of the parents of the injured boy.

REV. DON FORD HERE

Rev. Don Ford, a former pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist Church, who has been at Taft ever since he left here, returned to Los Angeles last week on business, accompanied by his little son whom he brought to Glendale to see his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Torrey, who came to this city a few months ago from Hollywood and bought property at 810 East Harvard Street. Almost immediately Mr. Ford came down with influenza and since then three other members of the family have developed the disease. None is very seriously ill and all are improving.

THE RAILWAY BILL

HOUSE AND SENATE CONFEREES AGREE ON PERMANENT SYSTEM OF ARBITRATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—A permanent system of arbitration which it is believed will be satisfactory to labor, was agreed upon by the Senate and House conferees as a finishing touch to the railroad bill today. The labor provisions were changed at the last moment because of Director General Hines' recommendations which are understood to represent the views of President Wilson. The plan adopted is similar to that proposed by President Wilson as a means of settling the present railway wage dispute. All anti-strike and compulsory arbitration features are eliminated from the conference report and the new system relies entirely on public opinion for its enforcement. The conference report, which will be submitted to the House tomorrow, creates a railway board of labor appeals and provides for the formation of railway adjustment boards whenever it is satisfactory to both employees and employers.

LOWER PRICES FOR MEAT

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF PACKERS MAKES PREDICTION BASED ON SITUATION ABROAD

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Lower prices for meat in the near future were predicted today by the American Institute of Meat Packers. The resumption of pre-war meat industries in foreign countries and the low rates of foreign exchange will force prices down, the institute declared, in a statement issued today. The exportation of pork has practically ceased although two and one-half billion pounds were exported last year.

SHIP AUCTION COLLAPSES

CALLED OFF BY COMMISSIONER SCOTT BECAUSE OF THE ACTION OF THE SENATE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The auction of the former German liners by the Shipping Board collapsed here today when an hour after bidding opened, Commissioner Scott closed it. Scott announced that all the bids would be submitted to the Senate Commerce Committee before being acted upon, but this is regarded as a mere formality since all the bids of today and yesterday were so low there is little prospect the board will accept any of them.

"The end of the auction," shipping men said, "was due to the action of the Senate in passing the McKellar resolution to defer the sale of ships." Shipping men did not want to show their hands while the sale was still uncertain.

President Wilson today was completing his reply to the Brandegee resolution passed in the Senate Saturday in which he is asked whether this government agreed to turn over the proceeds of ship sales to the reparation fund.

HITCHCOCK DISCOURAGED ABOUT TREATY

SAYS EFFORT FOR RATIFICATION IS HOPELESS UNLESS REPUBLICANS WILL ACCEPT COMPROMISE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Senator Hitchcock has notified Senator Lodge that he considers the present effort to ratify the treaty hopeless unless the republicans will accept one of the democratic proposals for a compromise on Article 10 or will offer some compromise of their own which the democrats can accept. Hitchcock took this means of bringing the treaty situation to an early climax. He said that Lodge's reply to this suggestion was a statement that for the present he would not interfere to stop debate. Under the circumstances, Hitchcock said, he will regard the situation as hopeless if the republicans do not vote for one or the other of the compromise proposals which he formally offered in the Senate late yesterday.

NO TOMBSTONE JURY YET

VENIRE DWINDLES TO TWO HUNDRED MEN AND MOST OF THOSE ARE EXCUSED BY COURT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
TOMBSTONE, Feb. 17.—Only 63 of what was to have been a panel of 400 remained for examination as prospective jurors in the first case in the Bisbee deportation trials. Sheriff deputies, after riding four days over deserts and mountains, succeeded in bringing back an even 200 men. These faded away very rapidly. Nearly every man had an excuse. One man had left his mine tunnel untimbered and feared it would cave in; another living near the Mexican border was nervous about leaving his cabin unguarded. After hours of such pleas Judge Pattee had excused fifty-eight. Then came the men employed by mining companies. The court room took on the appearance of a mine office on pay day. Seventy-nine men were excused under that head. The examination of those remaining began today. It is believed this panel will be exempted before night.

The cost of the trial to date is estimated at $5000. Defendants and allied interests pay over half of the county's taxes, so they are actually defraying the bulk of the cost of their own prosecution.

SCHOOL MATTERS

CLOSING OF BUILDINGS WILL BE UTILIZED TO CLEAN AND REPAIR THEM

Richardson D. White, Superintendent of City Schools, was not quite as surprised as were the majority of citizens when the order reached him to close the schools. Last week out of the whole number of teachers in the various city schools but two were absent on account of influenza—Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harwood. Between Saturday night and Monday the superintendent had received eight telephone calls notifying him of the illness of teachers on his staff and Monday morning came an additional notification of the illness of Miss Chase of the Colorado Street School. Eleven absences makes quite a hole in the teaching force, and when the pupils of the Intermediate assembled he was not surprised to discover that about three times as many were absent as usual. He therefore indorses the action of the city health officers. He is hoping, however, it will not be for long and with that hope in mind says that there will be no assignments of lessons before next Monday. By that time it will be possible to have the schools open.

J. L. MARTIN'S AUTO DAMAGED IN AVOIDING COLLISION

J. L. Martin, taxi driver, was coming south on Louise this forenoon about 9:30 when a motorist speeding eastward on California was seen approaching, the hind wheels sliding under pressure of the emergency brakes, he evidently having caught sight of Mr. Martin's car at about the same time. The latter turned sharply to the left to avoid a collision and ran his car into the curb, completely demolishing the left front wheel and damaging the hind wheel on the same side. The stranger stopped and came back to see if Mr. Martin was hurt, then went on. He had the right-of-way and could be censured only for going at too high speed in the city limits.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL

The Glendale Sanitarium Association has appropriated $1000 to be used for the erection of an emergency hospital to care for influenza cases. The permit for the building has already been granted and the building will be completed and properly equipped in a few days. Patients able to pay will be charged a reasonable fee, but a lack of ability to pay will not cause anyone to be turned away or neglected. For humanity's sake is the main object of providing this emergency building.

GREAT FLOWER GARDEN

TEN-ACRE TRACT IN GLENDALE TO BE DEVOTED TO FLOWER AND GREENERY

A. Tasanao, who has for twelve years conducted an extensive flower garden and greenery at Chestnut and Everett streets, in partnership with a brother, marketing the entire output in Los Angeles, is now going it alone and will make Glendale his distributing point. More than this he is establishing an additional and much larger plant for the growth of his products which he says will give him a nation-wide business. The new plant is at the corner of San Fernando Road and Grand View Avenue, all in Glendale. His ground extends 1700 feet north from the corner and approximates 10 acres. Of this two acres, now almost entirely covered by sheds, will be for the growth of asparagus fern, which will be shipped to all the largest cities of the West, Middle West and far East. Many species of flowers of rare beauty have been planted in this acreage and will reach perfection this summer. Others of longer growth have been started and their culture will mean months of patient care and watching. When the entire tract is covered with rare flowers and greenery it will form one of the beauty spots of our fair city. Mr. Tasanao has an abiding faith in Glendale. He has been here since 1906 and seen the city grow from a mere village to its present fifteen thousand or more population. He has, in his present venture, anticipated a growth in the next few years to 25,000, and is confident he has not over-estimated.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Cloudy or foggy in the morning.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

DELIGHTFUL VARIETY IN ENTERTAINMENT STAGED BY P. T. A. FEDERATION

Quite an audience gathered at the High School Monday evening for the program arranged by the Federation of the Parent-Teacher Association, though the fact that the schools had been closed by order of the Health authorities of the city, doubtless kept many away who under ordinary circumstances would have been there.

Mrs. A. A. Barton, president of the P. T. A. Federation, presided and announced the program.

In the main it was a patriotic program which opened with America, and closed with the Star Spangled Banner. The plan for each school to contribute a number was somewhat disarranged but was followed in the main, Pacific Avenue being represented by Mrs. Le Mohn, who gave some very artistic and clever character sketches in "A Dark Brown Diplomat," and "Pearl, the Child Wonder." The samples of her beautiful contralto voice in the snatches of song introduced in the readings, made the audience wish for more.

Dru Nicoles as the representative of the American Legion made a very nice little speech on behalf of the Glendale Post of the American Legion, of which he is the president, in which he expressed the conviction that the patriotism which sent the young manhood of America across the sea and inspired them to such heroic deeds was due to the unceasing, tireless efforts of the teachers and officials of the magnificent school system of the United States. Said he: "We have but to think of the thousands and thousands of young men who left their homes, their friends, their business, some never to return, to realize how deep-

SHAKESPEARE SECTION

The Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, which was to have met Wednesday afternoon at the home of the curator, Mrs. E. D. Yard, was entertained instead by Mrs. Walter Jones of Vine Street. The study of King Lear was begun and refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Yard was unable to receive the section members at her home because of the illness of Miss Lucile Sparks, one of the teachers in the City Schools, who makes her home with Mrs. Yam and who has a light case of influenza.

MRS. CARRIE WATLING

Mrs. Carrie Watling died at her home, 624 East Maple, yesterday morning at 8:30, aged 59 years. She was a native of New York State but came out here from St. Louis, Mo., in 1910, with her husband and four children, spending the first year in Los Angeles, then moving to Glendale. Caroline, the only daughter, and Robert, were at home when their mother died. John is on the way here from his home in Monitor, Wash., and Edgerton, who lives in New York, is not expected, on account of the rail tieup in the East by blizzards. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

LA BAU FAMILY SELL PASADENA HOME AND BUY IN GLENDALE

Mrs. Mary E. La Bau, her grown sons, Wm. and George, and daughter Isabel, recently sold their home at 1311 No. Los Robles St., Pasadena, and bought the Westby Hayman place at 713 Howard. They said they preferred Glendale on account of its cool breezes from sea and mountains. They have added to the house which is one of seven rooms, a screen porch of considerable size and are building a garage, the two sons doing the work because of inability to get carpenters. They are putting the grounds in shape and setting out many fruit trees. They are looking forward hopefully to the extension of Monterey Road, which will border their property on the north and give Howard Street an outlet to the east and west. Also, Wm. La Bau, the elder son, is an architect and engineer, with offices in Los Angeles, but is taking a vacation from his work to get the new property in shape.

The La Baus are just now mourning the loss of an important member of the family, a cat that had lived to the great age of 21 years, they having raised it from a kitten.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

THE INFLUENZA SITUATION

City of Glendale, Cal., Office of City Health Officer.

Owing to the presence of an epidemic of influenza, and the fact that it is affecting the children largely, I have considered it best to close the schools.

My reason for doing this is, if the schools remain open, the parents feel it their duty to send their children, not only because the state requires it, but because they would feel that their children would be suffering a distinct loss in not attending school, even though they might fear a possible contagion.

I feel that many cases are escaping detection because of the mildness of the symptoms, cases often resembling simple colds; however, those brought in contact with these cases are very apt to develop influenza in a severe type.

I do not feel that the condition at present warrants the closure of all public meetings, churches, and theatres, because it is not imperative that people attend these places and they do so at their own risk. At the same time I very strongly urge that the people refrain from attending such places so far as it is possible for them to do, as the danger of contagion is always greater where a number of people are gathered together in one room or building. In this way, those who wish can protect themselves, to a great extent, from the danger of contracting the disease.

Another reason for not prohibiting public gatherings and closing theatres and churches is that similar action has not been taken in Los Angeles, although influenza is just as prevalent there, and it would merely mean that a great many people would go to such places in Los Angeles, thereby destroying any advantage gained by the closing of them here.

If conditions warrant it later, however, an order will be issued prohibiting all public gatherings.

R. E. CHASE, M. D.,
Health Officer.

JUGO-SLAVS TAKE HEART

ADRIATIC NOTE OF PRESIDENT WILSON HAS NOTICEABLY IMPROVED THEIR MORALE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Jugo-Slav representatives here today declared the Belgrade government will stand firm in its position of refusing any settlement of the Adriatic dispute except that advocated by President Wilson. The president's Adriatic note has noticeably improved the Jugo-Slav morale. "In view of this recent development, no government in Belgrade could survive if we backed down now," one official stated.

French officials, it was declared, view the note with mixed feelings. "President Wilson sent his note as if nothing had happened during the last two months," one official said. "He apparently disregards the fact that since December 13 the Italians have made many concessions to the Jugo-Slavs."

HOW WOOLWORTH STARTED

Away back in 1873, when the late
F. W. Woolworth began his business career, he was a clerk in a dry goods store in Watertown, N. Y.

For three months he received no
salary at all; then he was paid $3.50 a week. Later it was increased to $4, but at the end of two years he was getting only six dollars a week,
was supporting himself, and saving money.

Evidently his employers had never even dreamed of any such thing
as the eight-hour law, because young Woolworth opened the store at seven o'clock in the morning and remained each night until ten o'clock.

Later, he went with another firm at a salary of $10 a week, but he received a rude shock one day when his employers reduced his salary to $8 because, in their judgment, as a salesman he wasn't worth ten.

What he achieved later in building up his wonderful chain of five-and-ten-cent stores nearly everybody knows.

FIFTEEN YEARS LONGER

The famous surgeon, Dr. William Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., estimates that since the Civil War the progress of surgery and medicine have added fifteen years to the average life; and now, he says, prohibition will add fifteen years more! He deplored the increase in smoking, both by men and women, declaring that it has already caused an increase in cancer. If we want to hold our 15 years' gain, we shall need to wage warfare against King Nicotine.

Fifteen years! Multiply that by the hundred million people in the United States, and you have an aggregate gain of one billion, five hundred million years for every generation. How much may be done in that vast stretch of time! How far the world should forge ahead because of prohibition!

"Prohibition won't prohibit"
death, of course; but it will put it off a decade and a half.

HUMAN FRAILTY

Before condemning too severely
the Chicago individuals who have leaped into the limelight as petitioners for what they regard as the rights in these days of jazzed rifances, one should try to put himself in the other fellow's place. A coat and hat check girl in a hotel is seeking to recover some $20,000 as her share of the tips she has received and paid by compulsion to a "tip" syndicate. In another instance certain grand opera stars are exposed as paying nightly large sums to a "claque combination" who are given access to the theater and whose duty it is to show noisy enthusiasm for the singing of their generous patrons, without any reference to the value of their vocalism.

We are given in these two instances an intimate angle from which to study human rights versus the human laws of honesty. Neither the coat and hat check girls nor the opera claque have violated any legal ordinance known to present-day civilization or society. They are victims of a very prevalent conception of human rights. Of course the public cannot properly be brought into the affair for cogent reasons. It is the public's office to set the example and then pay the piper.

HIS AUTOBIOGRAPHY

In one of the big base hospitals of the army not long ago a new librarian was set to work by the American Library association. She was a very charming young woman,
and very anxious to please all of her
"customers," though some of them
didn't even wish to look at a book.
In her rounds she approached one of the patients and he declined to be interested in her wares. At the next cot she stopped and offered its occupant a book.

"What's it about?" the patient
asked.

"Oh, this is Bambi," said the librarian. It's about a girl who married a man without his having anything to say about it."

"Hold on there," shouted the man who had declined all books. He raised himself up on his elbow and reached out his hand. "Give me that book. It's my autobiography."
—From a Bulletin of the American Library Association.

The latest suggestion toward "making over" a climate deals with that of Eastern Canada, which many people think would be improved if it were made milder. R. T. Elliott, a Canadian engineer, thinks such a change could be brought about by closing Belle Isle straits. Among the results, in his opinion, would be that Montreal would become an open port during the whole year, the banks of the St. Lawrence would be in perpetual blossom of flowers and shrubbery, and, incidentally, people
all the world over would long to live there. As an engineering problem there seems no reason to doubt that the straits could be closed, although at an expense which Canada might not care to assume just at this time.
Whether the seasons would be so greatly changed is another matter,
not conclusively settled by theoretical probabilities.

ly those patriotic teachings were imbedded in their hearts. Now that the world war is ended and victory has been won we dare not hesitate but must bend every effort to keep that spirit of freedom, that love of country alive, for never in the history of our country has its need been greater. We are surrounded on all sides by syndicalism and anarchy,
and there is but one way to banish
it from our country and that is for you and me to preach, teach and live patriotism."

Several numbers were given by the High School orchestra, directed by Mrs. Dora Gibson. These were warmly encored.

Colorado School had the novelty of the evening in a darling whistler who proved to be none other than little Helen White, daughter of the Superintendent of Schools. Such sweet, flutelike piping and such a faultless ear—never a shade off tone—were marvelous and the audience would have been glad to hear more than the encore with which she responded to its plaudits.

Miss Lois Naudain, who filled the place assigned the Acacia School, entertained with two fancy dances in her characteristic manner, the first a military dance, the second a flower dance, which won much applause.

Dorothy Young charmingly represented the Intermediate School with a solo vocal number sung very sweetly and unaffectedly.

Dorothy Dutton represented the Cerritos Avenue School in two very pretty fancy dance numbers, appearing in old-fashioned hoop skirt costume.

Mrs. Charles Parker, to a piano accompaniment furnished by Mrs.
Wright, sang "Awake," by Phillips, and "Sylvia." In response to the persistent applause she gave the amusing encore "The Day I Get to Heaven."

The main orator of the evening was ex-Senator Cartwright of the Commercial Federation of California. It was a fine patriotic but very practical talk by an easy, fluent speaker. He declared that teaching is the most important vocation in life. He pictured the boldness with which the Bolsheviks and other disloyal elements in this country are endeavoring to undermine this government and cast discredit upon it, and the anathemas they have been pronouncing upon what they term
"the ruling classes." He declared that when the founders of this republic signed the Declaration of Independence and pledged their lives, fortunes and honor they started upon its course the first government in the world where there is no ruling class. Said he: "In America we are all made of the same kind of mud and the sooner we get this class idea out of our heads, the sooner will we appreciate America and its ideals and traditions. It is the first country in the world where a man has just one vote. This country is just what we make it. If there is a ruling class, we must be that ruling class. We let men administer our affairs, but they are not rulers, they are servants. The man who works the hardest and the longest number of hours is the man highest up. In Europe and Asia they have a working class. What chance have the millions there to rise above the conditions to which they were born?
But here in America the door of opportunity has stood ajar to every man or woman who would pay the price of success. If you will look back over the lives of the capitalists of this country you will find that ninety-nine out of a hundred came from the ranks of labor.

"He referred to Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel Works, and to Rockefeller as examples. Applying the same rule to the political field,
he declared there were but three men of outstanding prominence in the political history of America who had been men of means, Washington, Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt. The rest of our presidents had been rooted in poverty. The great majority of us get out of life what we deserve," he declared. "Do not teach the boys or the girls to escape work. Teach them they are getting an education for the purpose of doing their work more effectively."

The last speaker, Principal George
U. Moyle, of the High School, reviewed the needs of the school,
spoke of the coming bond election
and urged that the recommendations of the committee of investigation and the High School trustees be sustained at the polls.

"SAFETY" UMBRELLA HANDLE

A certain wise man of this city persists in carrying an umbrella with a broken handle. The handle has come loose from the center rod, and twirls around and around on the rod.

"Why don't you glue that on?"
asked one who is perpetually telling other people what they ought to do.
The man gave his broken umbrella
a whirl, and replied:

"I don't fix it because I find it quite useful this way. The other day, for instance, I took it to the theater with me, and placed it between my seat and the next.

"When the show was over, my neighbor absent-mindedly reached for my umbrella, caught the handle and marched off. After he had gone
a few feet he looked down to see what he had drawn—and then he threw the handle away. I came along and picked up my handle. Why should I get it fixed so somebody can get away with it?—Washington Star.

"RED" HYSTERIA

There has been a vast deal of excitement over a class of trouble-makers who may possibly constitute as much as five per cent of our population, but are probably less than one per cent.

Is that little handful of reds going to put over any "revolution?"
How? Where? When?

Malefactors of any type must be punished. But this is a time not for hysteria. It is a time for calm, stern dignity.

There is no red crisis at Washington. There is no conspiracy of Cataline, menacing the republic.
Frenzied phillipics are uncalled for.

There are only little groups of criminals here and there who must be got after and punished or deported
as criminals, and there are false doctrines which must be fought by a calm, intelligent, educational propaganda, lest they become really dangerous.

LETTING THE NEIGHBOR SEE IT

"Mr. Glithery gave Mrs. Glithery
a pearl necklace for a Christmas present," remarked Mr. Twobble.
"I've heard about it," answered Mrs. Twobble. "And if it wasn't for the risk, I dare say she'd hang it in a front window of their apartment
instead of a holly wreath."

ADVENTISTS IN SESSION

of civilized man has a great nation been reduced to such awful straits as that.

"About a week ago the Italians and Dutch, in mercy and pity, sent to Austria, gathered 25,000 starving children, loaded them upon trains and took them to Holland and Italy to feed them. Some parents screamed in agony of despair, believing they would never again see their children. Others kneeled upon the station platform, crossing their breasts and thanking God that their children were to be saved from starvation. Holland and Italy promised to take 30,000 more to feed them.

"Germany is not in such a sad plight as that. Not a battle was fought on Germany territory. Yet the German railway system has been ruined. For five years nothing was done to keep the tracks in condition, and the travel was very heavy. A vast army was transported back and forth. Armies were sent from east to west over these railroads like shuttlecocks. Rolling stock was shaken to pieces. I was told there is hardly a full window pane in any of the cars of Germany. Where four or five trains a day operated before the war, only one runs now; and when I left Europe, last December, not a particle of heat had been put on any train in Germany. Cars were so crowded that people had to stand all night.

"Not only has the war ruined well nigh bankrupted the nations, but it has sown a spirit of hatred in the hearts of the people. Soldiers returning from the front have gone home greatly disappointed. In their unsettled state of mind many have been ready for the germ of Bolshevism and revolution.

"All Europe is trembling today in the balance. The nations are living as it were, over a great volcano. They do not know what the future may bring. A new situation has come, and it is not for the better. When we see kings dethroned, compelled to flee for their lives, or massacred; cabinets overturned; governments torn to pieces; currency reduced to nothing, commerce dislocated, manufactures stopped, and the people in poverty and starvation, we are led to ask how our churches have fared, how our institutions in Europe have weathered the storm.

"We made a very careful survey of our situation while I, with other members of the General Conference committee, was in Europe. Every conference we had in Europe when the war began, we found intact when it closed. We found nearly every institution operating to its fullest capacity.

"During the war our conference in England enlarged our headquarters near London by the investment of $85,000, and were planning for a further investment of $200,000.

"Our English members felt they must provide better church facilities for their growing congregations. They therefore purchased a fine building a few blocks from the Parliament House, two blocks from Dr. Myers' church, and three or four blocks from Spurgeon's Tabernacle. Thus they have a good location, in the heart of London. They also have opened a mission training school near Finsbury Park. Our evangelists are finding difficulty in securing halls large enough to seat their audiences.

"When the war began, we had 1000 members in Rumania. One hundred fifty were called to the colors. Of these 135 returned to their families. Surely, nothing but Divine providence could thus have protected the believers in that land. For five years they were without our denominational literature. They were cut off from all communication with us. When the war closed, the president of that conference wrote us to ask what had become of our General Conference. 'Whoever you are and wherever you are,' he said, 'we want you to know we are here, your brethren.'

"I found our sanitarium in Scandinavia in a flourishing condition. In 1900 the institution became involved financially during a great panic which swept the country. When the crash came we found ourselves involved to the extent of $66,000 for which we had received nothing in return. Commercial houses and bankers thought we would not pay it, for it was only a moral obligation. But we raised that money, and paid every dollar of it. This was a gift by the American church to the church in Scandinavia. At the close of the war the Scandinavian church returned to the American body $70,000 from its surplus, tithe and mission offerings. Thus there was placed in our hands $4000 more than the amount we had expended a few years previously to fulfill a moral obligation.

"Today that sanitarium is the largest in the denomination, having a family of nurses and helpers numbering 250. During nine months of the year it is filled to capacity, and has a large waiting list. That institution has more than a half million dollars invested in its plant and equipment.

"Our poor Armenian people suffered terribly. It is reported that of 1,800,000 Armenians living when the war began, Turkey massacred one million. Our Armenian believers suffered greatly; we do not know how much. Our leading preacher, Elder Baharian, was massacred. Another of our members escaped from a company of Armenians who were being driven out to perish or to be massacred, and with his wife, traveled for 30 days, enduring great hardships, until they reached Alexandria. Yet our Elder Erbberger remained in Constantinople throughout the war.

"Now the war is over. The day of opportunity has come to the church. What ought we to do? We never can go at the pace we have been following. We can not live in the same way we have been living. We must now take hold of this work with new heart and new enthusiasm. Never since the days of the apostles has the church enjoyed the liberty and freedom it does tonight. We must speedily carry the message of God to the entire world."

Holding up a folded paper, Elder Daniels said, "I have here calls for 176 couples to go to mission fields this year. Four fine young people leave this town in a few days. God bless them. They go to the Lake Titicaca Mission, to work for the Inca Indians, hundreds of whom are being converted by the gospel. I want to get 200 more young people to go out to fields now open to gospel work. Young men, young women, don't be afraid to go. We are safe anywhere in the world where the providence of God calls us."

Reports from conference presidents occupied yesterday morning's conference session. Elder M. M. Hare, president of the Southern California Conference, reported the receipts from the 36 churches in the local conference of $305,171, or an annual per capita increase from $21.32 to $38.08. Mission offerings totaled $58,592 for the four years. Last year the per capita tithe and mission offerings combined, from Southern California, amounted to $56.58. Sales of literature increased from $15,900 for 1916 to $47,140 in 1919.

Elder J. L. McElhany, of Riverside, reported that 641 persons were baptized during the four years, in the Southeastern California Conference, and that the tithe receipts increased from $39,000 in 1916 to $76,800 in 1919, a total for the four years for that local conference of $232,274.

The report for the Arizona Conference was rendered by Elder A. R. Sandborn, and showed tithe for 1919 of almost $17,000.

Elder M. A. Hollister, superintendent of the Nevada field, said the tithe amounted to $11,000 for 1919, and the mission offerings to more than $6000, the total per capita being $64.77. Elder Hare announced that the Southern California Conference will contribute $1000 to the Arizona Conference to aid in providing school facilities in Phoenix.

Resolutions of gratitude to God, providing for the training of colporteurs and for the amendment of the constitution to provide that secretaries of the home missionary and young people's departments be members ex-officio of the Pacific Union Conference committee, were passed by the delegates.

Elder J. Adams Stevens, of Glendale, executive secretary of the home missionary department, submitted his report at yesterday afternoon's session. Recommendations from the committee on plans were adopted by unanimous vote of the delegates for the systematic and energetic conduct of soul-winning effort by all Seventh-day Adventist lay members.

OVERPRODUCTION OF MONEY

It is trite to say that the world is suffering today from underproduction. Everybody knows that, or ought to know it. But that is only part of the story. As a matter of fact, most of its financial troubles seem due to overproduction of the one commodity most sought after—money.

How vast this increase of the medium of exchange has been is revealed in figures given out by the National City Bank of New York. Without counting Russia, whose currency has been debased by the printing of rubles by ten of billions, the statisticians find that the principal countries of the world in 1914 had paper money in circulation amounting to $7,250,000,000, and that their paper currency has now risen to over $50,000,000,000.

With more than six times as much money in circulation, it would certainly be a miracle if prices had not soared, for it is one of the elementary principles of economics that the more money there is, the more of it has to be paid for other things. The United States itself has four times as much paper money in circulation as it had in 1914.

Still more significant is the attendant change in the ratio of paper to gold. While the volume of paper money has been thus multiplied, the world's supply of gold has increased very little. In most of the countries outside of the United States the stock of gold has been depleted to such an extent as to place gold at a big premium or paper at a big discount.

Our own gold holdings, before the war, were almost exactly equal to our paper. After all our importation of gold, we now have only about 52 per cent as much gold as paper; this, however, is ample to keep our paper at par value. European nations are less fortunate. In the allied countries, taken altogether, there is now only about 22 per cent as much gold as bank notes, and in the Central European countries only about 33 1-3 per cent as much gold as bank notes.

Clearly then, the task of bringing prices back to normal ought to be attacked from both ends. Production of goods—of real wealth—should be speeded up; and at the same time, production of money should be curtailed. The reckless issue of paper money and negotiable securities should be stopped, and as fast as possible bank notes should be withdrawn from circulation, bonds should be redeemed and inflated credits of all kinds reduced.—Long Beach Telegram.

MORE SIGN POSTS

AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BUSY PLACING SIGN POSTS

More sign posts for the highways of this part of the state on account of a new policy just adopted by the Automobile Club of Southern California are promised in the immediate future, according to a report issued by the club yesterday.

All limits for the number of guide signs to be placed on the roads have been removed, and if twenty signs are needed over a highway not more than four miles in length, they will be put there, it is announced. Signs at least a half mile apart will become the rule and not the exception during 1920.

Just what the Auto Club is doing now in its posting work was included in yesterday's report. It is shown that the signing of San Diego county is nearing completion and so is the re-signing of the routes in San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

New signs for old will be placed at once in both Tulare and Kern counties, it is announced, and these will be of the regulation metal enameled type. Orange county is well posted, and no work is contemplated for that section in the immediate future. A membership campaign is being conducted by the club there to secure needed support for future improvements in the county.

Signs are now ready for Imperial county and will be placed on every route, whether paved or not, according to "Doug" Rhodes, head of the sign-posting department of the club. These new signs will be erected at once.

Club trucks are now busy in Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties revising the sign system and placing hundreds of new signs which will be of unusual importance to visiting motorists here from the East.

Work is rapidly progressing in the re-sign posting of the Ocean-to-Ocean transcontinental highway, with many changes in the system through the Coachella Valley. In fact, it is stated that this will be a big year for club sign post work on the transcontinental routes leading directly to Southern California.

Additional "dope" on its first official motor car census of America has been compiled by the Automobile Club of Southern California showing that at this moment there are 7,718,020 automobiles at large throughout the United States.

Furthermore, it is shown in this latest report, that California leads America in the ownership of motor cars in proportion to population, with one car to each 5.6 persons in the state, where last year Iowa and Nebraska were practically tied for first place in this method of computation, with one car to every 7 of population. At that time, California stood seventh in the list of states, with one car to each eleven persons.

The west defeats the east in state groupings in the auto club's report, it is shown, with California, Washington and Oregon showing a percentage of 1919 gains of exactly 35.4 per cent over 1918. California led, with its forty per cent gain. Washington was next, and Oregon third.

The group of states which ranks next to the western group in 1919 percentage gain is composed of the Southern states, which showed a 33 per cent gain in registrations last year. The Mountain states maintain-

Don't Get the Flu

Just use ordinary precautions and escape this distressing ailment which seems to have made its reappearance and which consists of a cold in an exaggerated form. TAKE

R. & E. Cold Tablets

They will generally give relief from a cold in twenty-four hours and being chocolate-coated are very easy to take. They arouse the liver to action, stimulate the general secretions and produce free and easy evacuation of the bowels, thus eliminating the "cold" from the system.

A cold is due to the sudden checking of the elimination through the pores of the skin of certain matter that is poisonous if retained in the system. For instance, a person becomes considerably overheated, the metabolic forces of the body are accelerated and the skin is necessarily more active than usual in eliminating the increased waste products produced in this condition. Now, let this person step directly into a cold atmosphere or sit in a draft. What happens? The pores become contracted and closed and the blood becomes laden with those impurities which it tries to throw off through the mucous membranes. There is a general feeling of languor and weariness, the eyes become watery and red, the mucous membrane of the nose becomes swollen being followed by increased secretion. The throat becomes dry, irritated and inflamed, producing cough and hoarseness.

If you are threatened with a cold, eat sparingly, and let R. & E. Cold Tablets assist in the elimination of poisons from the body.

ed the national average of 28 per cent gain, while the eastern manufacturing states fell to 23 per cent gain and the Middle West agricultural states made the poorest showing with only 22 per cent gain in registrations over 1918.

Explanation of this variation in percentage registration gain is made by the auto club in pointing out the proportion of cars owned in each state group to the population. It is indicated that the "saturation point" has been nearly reached in the Middle West section where Iowa has one automobile registered to each 6.1 persons; Nebraska 1 car to each 6.2 persons; Indiana one car to each 10 persons; South Dakota one car to each 6.3 of population and Minnesota one car to each 8.8 persons. Therefore it is shown that there is not the opportunity offered in the Middle West for the percentage gains possible in the Pacific coast states and the south.

Why Does the Union High School Welfare Association Oppose the Issuing of $425,000 in Bonds at the Present Time?

- BECAUSE the present location is fast becoming undesirable for High School purposes.
- BECAUSE we do not deem it wise to put $309,000 more into new buildings on an undesirable location.
- BECAUSE the prevailing high prices make all unnecessary building inadvisable at this time.
- BECAUSE the $43,000 proposed to be spent for one acre on Brand Boulevard will buy a new school site in an ideal location.
- BECAUSE approximately $150,000 will not only provide for ample additions to the present plant for present needs, but will also buy the new school site.
- BECAUSE the future sale of present property, with the additions made as proposed by the Union High School Welfare Association, should practically finance the new high school building when the right time arrives.
- BECAUSE we realize that to the extent that new individual buildings are erected on the present site does that property become the more difficult to dispose of without enormous and unpardonable waste.

The two doctors served at the same cantonment in Kansas during the war and are therefore well acquainted.

Mr. J. H. Webster of 215 West Park Avenue spent some time Sunday in watching the numerous automobiles passing on South Central Avenue, near Park. He says that in ten hours' time approximately 3500 cars passed a given point of Central Avenue and presuming that the same number (if not a greater number) were passing on San Fernando and Brand, we figure that the estimated number of autos traveling on these three streets last Sunday would be 10,500 cars. Estimating the average price of each to be at least $1500, the money represented would be $15,750,000. Mr. Webster is employed as storekeeper at the Public Service Department and we consider that the time consumed in securing this data is well spent, for it certainly is of great interest to residents of Glendale.

ANNOUNCE BETROTHAL

The home of Miss Bessie H. Bisbee of Grand View avenue, Los Angeles, was the scene on Saturday of a pretty farewell luncheon for Miss Grace E. Yardley of Oak Park, Illinois, who has been her guest for several months. It was also made the occasion of the announcement of the engagement of Miss Yardley to J. Brien Chapman of Glendale. The happy man is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Chapman of 1100 Campbell street. He is scenario writer and publicity man for the Hampton Production Company with the Brunton Studios at Hollywood.

The announcement was foreshadowed in the decorations which centered the luncheon table—kewpies staging a miniature wedding party showered by flowers from tiny airplanes from above. The place cards were also in the shape of airplanes to which were attached cards bearing

DOUBLE RECEPTION

FAREWELL TO MISSIONARIES
AND BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION AT S. B. JOHNSTON'S

The home of S. B. Johnston and wife, 536 Patterson Avenue, was the scene Saturday night of a double event, a farewell reception to Dr. S. Theron Johnston, eldest son of the house, his wife and little daughter, who leave soon for Peru as missionaries, and a birthday party for Earl T., who reached his majority that day. About 75 or 80 were present to bid farewell to the parting guests and welcome the new "man in the house." Some very handsome and appropriate gifts were presented Dr. and Mrs. Johnston, among them a pair of double blankets, which will be appreciated when they reach the field, which is on the shores of Lake Titicaca, in the Andes Mountains, said to be the highest body of fresh water in the world. They were presented by Dr. Johnston's class in medical school at White Memorial, Boyle Heights. Earl was the recipient of many handsome gifts from his family and young friends, also. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and some fine music was enjoyed. The affair was a surprise to both parties. Earl knew that his elder brother and family were to be honored with a farewell reception and they knew of Earl's birthday party, but neither side knew that they were to share in the event.

Dr. Johnston goes to the South American field as a medical missionary for the Seventh-day Adventists and his wife is a trained nurse. They start next Wednesday for New Orleans, where they take ship for the names of the betrothed. Covers were laid for Mrs. P. O. Heide and daughter, Marie, Miss Lucile Yates of Oak Park, Miss Heide of Minneapolis, Miss Martha McAllister of Denver, Miss Helen Abrams, Miss Ida Seymour, Mrs. James Mills, Mrs. Charles Boyd, Mrs. Stella Bisbee, Mrs. Margaret Powell, Mrs. Hulda Dietz, the hostess and guest of honor.

their ocean journey. They will go through the Panama Canal and then on down the Western Coast. With them will go Mr. Elvin, wife and babe, bound for the same mission field. Mr. and Mrs. Elvin are both nurses.

Elder Daniels, president of the Seventh-day Adventist General Conference, was one of the guests, and he made a short talk, telling of the needs of the South American field and describing the conditions that awaited the missionaries. Dr. Harrower also spoke, telling some of the things his sister-in-law, Mrs. Howard, who is now in the field, had written to him and his wife. Elder Ford presented the gifts of the class to Dr. Johnston and gave to him and his wife the best wishes of the assembled guests.

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.

The freight on it has increased only 5½ cents.

Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wool to the mills and the cloth to the tailors—but these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 5¾ cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

Beef pays only two-thirds of a cent a pound freight from Chicago to New York.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

A given unit of any commodity will buy more transportation now than it ever did before in the history of the country. A ton of steel or a bushel of wheat will buy more transportation now than ever before.

sible to determine, he thinks, whether the epidemic is likely to be prolonged for a period sufficient to make home study necessary.

The order has disarranged a good many projects, however. For instance, after discussing plans for night school work with the fifteen teachers who volunteered to give their services without compensation, a decision had been reached to call a meeting for Wednesday evening of all persons either native or foreign who wished to take instruction in fundamentals—reading, writing, spelling, etc., or to join a class in naturalization for those desirous of becoming citizens of the United States. The preliminary plans had provided for two centers, one at the Cerritos Avenue School in the south part of the city, the other in the intermediate, with six teachers in attendance at each place, two nights a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays. Now that the schools have been closed the matter will be postponed. A few weeks ago Mexicans who have been employed in flood control work expressed considerable interest in the project when it was broached to them, but many are leaving now because of their fear of influenza and that has altered the situation.

Another postponement is the concert which was to have been given this evening under the auspices of the Teachers' Club, which has been called off.

Mr. White says the closing of the schools will make possible the cleaning and repairing of the buildings at this time instead of waiting until the spring vacation.

FOR CONSIDERATION OF VOTERS

The citizens of the Glendale Union High School district have been informed by the Board of Trustees that the seating capacity of the high school auditorium and the class rooms is inadequate to accommodate the boys and girls in attendance.

The Board of the school district has called a bond election to be held Friday, February 27, 1920, at which time the proposition of bonding the district for $425,000 will be voted upon.

It is presumed the Board of Trustees will use $43,000 of this amount for purchasing 385 feet of frontage on Brand Boulevard and $73,000 for the purchase of land in the block east of the present site, and the balance, $309,000, will be used for the erection of an auditorium and class rooms on Brand Boulevard and the making of other needed improvements.

The Glendale Union High School Welfare Association, an association organized for the purpose of bringing about betterments for the Union High School, is well aware that more room is needed in the school buildings and with this knowledge in its possession it is enthusiastically in favor of having an addition built to the south side of the main high school building, the addition to be of such size as when joined to the present auditorium will give the desired seating capacity. The construction of the addition to the main building will also make several additional class rooms available, and if other class rooms are necessary, the Association recommends that an addition be built to the Domestic Science building.

The Welfare Association in conferring with Architect Arthur G. Lindley of Glendale, learns that these additions may be made without violating any architectural laws, and Architect Lindley recommends that the enlargement of the present school building is the most practical way to get the needed room for the pupils for the next four or five years. Mr. Lindley further advises the Association that the probable cost of these new additions would not exceed $100,000 and it would be possible to begin and complete the work during the next summer vacation, thus giving the boys and girls the benefit of larger quarters when they enter school next September.

The Welfare Association is wide awake to the imperative need of more room for the pupils now and favors the course that will speed up the work and will not be delayed by lengthy condemnation proceedings and the sale of buildings on lands proposed to be purchased. The boys and girls of the next school year are entitled to all advantages possible.

With all of these betterments for the school as outlined above, the Union High School Welfare Association believes it is for the best interest of the Glendale Union High School District for every voter to VOTE NO at the bond election February 27, 1920, on the question of bonding the district for $425,000, with the understanding that the necessary improvements may be made at least one year earlier and at one-fourth the cost.

With a vision that contemplates the future growth of the Glendale community, and hence the increased enrollment of the high school, the Welfare Association urges that immediately after the defeat of the bonds on the 27th day of February, the voters petition the Board of Trustees to call an election for a sufficient bond issue to make the necessary additions to the present buildings and also for such an amount as will purchase from twelve to fifteen acres of land in a location to be selected by the voters of the district, said land when purchased to be used for athletic grounds until such a time as it would be thought advisable to arrange to erect thereon an entirely new group of high school buildings in keeping with the school population and wealth of the district. The approximate cost of the land would be $45,000 which would require a total bond issue of approximately $150,000.

WM. L. BAKER, Secretary,
Glendale Union High School Welfare Association.

FOR THE THINKING VOTER

The additional bonding capacity of the Glendale Union High School District is $445,368. Deducting $425,000, the proposed bond issue, from that amount there remains only $20,368 to the district's bonding credit. In case of an emergency call for funds on account of destruction of buildings by fire or other unforeseen cause, the district will be in a state of bankruptcy.

It is unfair to ask the residents of the Glendale Union High School District residing outside of the immediate Glendale community to pay taxes for the purchase of high priced real estate and for the construction of an auditorium larger than that needed for school purposes.

The Union High School Welfare Association emphatically disclaims affiliation with persons who are opposed to needed improvements. Many of the members are parents of children who have graduated from the school or will graduate in the near future. The success of the schools is of vital importance to all.

The Welfare Association believes that it is for the greatest good of the school not to have any school buildings on Brand Boulevard, a street of great traffic and business industries. There is a place for everything and the place for a school is where there is the least confusion.
